

Master's Level In-Home Therapy (IHT) Clinician

The Brookline Center for Community Mental Health is a leading Massachusetts provider of mental health care and community-based social services; a sought-after placement for training clinicians; and a partner to more than 50 agencies working to improve the wellbeing of our community's most at-risk and vulnerable populations. The Brookline Center offers outstanding, affordable care to all who need us no matter their ability to pay, and helps individuals, children, and families lead healthier, safer, and fuller lives, while building a stronger community for all.

In-Home Therapy (IHT) is an intensive therapeutic intervention designed to stabilize families in crisis in order to reduce out-of-home placement (ER visits, residential placements, hospitalizations, etc.). In-home therapists provide family-focused, strength-based, clinical services to youth and their families. IHT services are provided in the home and community and are focused on supporting the behavioral health needs of youth in the home and improving the abilities of families to support themselves.

We are actively interested in ensuring that the Brookline Center for Community Mental Health represents a range of experiences and backgrounds. Qualified candidates with diverse racial, cultural, multilingual, religious, class, and/or gender backgrounds and experiences are strongly encouraged to apply.
