A YEAR OF
CARING, CONNECTION, AND CHANGE

2021 IMPACT REPORT
THE BROOKLINE CENTER for COMMUNITY MENTAL HEALTH
DEAR FRIENDS,

In a year of social distance, we all felt the impact on our mental health. COVID-19 kept us apart from friends and loved ones. We feared for the health of our families and communities. We saw, and perhaps felt, the deep economic effects of the pandemic. And we experienced the pain of a nation reckoning with racism, racial violence, and searing political divides.

Caring, connection, and change are Brookline Center hallmarks, and never have they been more present – and more needed. For so many, the Center was the difference between despair and hope, crisis and comfort. In the midst of near-constant change, our amazing clinicians and program staff discovered new ways to effectively deliver care and sustain vital connections with clients. Your support made it all possible.

You are helping us meet the greatest mental health challenge of our lifetime and we are filled with gratitude for your partnership. As we continue the process of healing, greatly expanding access to mental health care is crucial. We have yet to see the full expression of the pandemic’s mental health impacts; the need for care grows each day.

Your support means everything for the well-being of our community and access to mental health care, and we hope you will enjoy reading about your impact this year.

Thank you, from all of us at the Center.

From the beginning, community support has been integral to the Brookline Center’s mission of providing - and expanding access to - outstanding, affordable, and innovative mental health care. Our ability to increase services by 16% in response to the pandemic was made possible by your shared commitment to mental health for all.

Philanthropy to the Brookline Center grew by 14% this year. All told, 911 individuals and organizations made new gifts and commitments totaling $1.6 million. State and federal funding increased by 80%, including funding for Center programs that directly support community members economically impacted by the pandemic, and the forgiveness of the Center’s 2020 Paycheck Protection Program loan.

We carefully manage our $9.98 million budget to ensure that every donation has its intended impact: to provide the best possible mental health care to all who need it. Expenses overall grew by 22% this year, including a 21% increase in program services costs – primarily capacity-building investments and staff to address the elevated need for care.

DEEPENING DEI
To build a Brookline Center better equipped to serve both clients from historically marginalized communities and staff of color, we prioritized diversity, equity, and inclusion in conversations and decision-making across the Center. This deeply meaningful change was most evident in improvements to how the Center connects with and cares for our staff. Today, staff of color make up 25 percent of Center employees—including many clinicians and three new senior leaders.

COMMUNITY SUPPORT POWERED OUR WORK, Fueling Caring, Connection and Change

A new partnership with the group Soldier On introduced our Healthy Lives intervention to veterans with chronic medical and mental health issues — directly serving veteran communities for the very first time. From Massachusetts to Oregon, BRYT helped sustain the mental health of students and educators at 250 schools across eight states. Locally, BRYT partnered with state leaders to deliver professional learning to thousands of teachers on navigating relentless change, stress, and uncertainty while supporting their students. Brookline High’s Center-run BRYT program provided nonstop connection to students facing more serious mental health challenges. Nationally, BRYT urged educators to lead through the crisis with mental health and equity at the forefront, hosting a convening that attracted more than 1,000 educators.

A VIRTUAL BOSTON MARATHON
Team Brookline runners persevered, running 26.2 miles from spots near and far, expanding access to mental health care with each step.

BEAUTIFUL NEW SPACES
Our office in Brookline’s Washington Square underwent a major renovation, with greatly improved accessibility, upgraded systems, and beautiful new spaces for clients and staff.

RESPECTING TRAUMA
As the country reckoned with racism, we reaffirmed our commitment to supporting community members experiencing the negative mental health impacts of racial discrimination and racial trauma.

CARE CONNECTIONS LAUNCHED
Making it more understandable to residues out of crisis and improving their access to care, our crisis teams launched the Crisis Team Connection, a 24-hour hotline to match individuals and families experiencing a mental health crisis with community-based care.
